

COVID-19 – A Message to Our Clients

As the global COVID-19 public health emergency continues to spread and create challenges for families and businesses worldwide, we wanted to share with you how Snailpapers.com is addressing this challenges.

We have ensured a safe environment for all our workers. We implemented additional safety standards and procedures which workers needs to follow at work and at home to ensure maximum protection.

We have established a limited production to fulfil all your orders in the best possible times. Some order delays can be expected due to limited accesses to materials, closed partner facilities, response times from partners, government regulations.

We are a global provider of customized rolling papers and delivery times can be altered by our partners UPS, GLS, National Post or other contracting partners.

We will provide all our clients immediate information about the orders as the situation unfolds.

We are all in this together.

Sincerely

Snailpapers Team
